Work Too Hard?

This time of the year finds everyone hurrying to get the home cleaned up for summer. It's a pleasure, too, when you're well, but no man or woman with a "bad back" enjoys doing anything. If your back is lame, if sharp twinges catch you when lifting and you feel tired and worn out, kidney weakness is likely causing your trouble. Don't wait! Delay may cause gravel, dropsy or Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills have helped people the world over.

A Kentucky Case

Stant Clayton, 730 E. Central St., Ashland, Ky., says: "I suffered severely from my back and kidneys. My back was a constant ache, and so lame I could hardly bend one way or the other. The kidney secretions passed too frequently and were highly colored. As I had often read of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box and as it was a further supply, I continued the use of Doan's Kidney Pills and was cured."

U. S. Increases Crop Acreage

More Than 56,000,000 Acres Are Added in the Last Ten Years, Government Statistics Show

More than 56,000,000 acres have been added to the country's aggregate crop acreage in the last ten years. Statistics announced by the department of agriculture show the country's aggregate last year to have been 367,738,000 acres, or 605,840 square miles. That is more than one-fifth of the total land area of continental United States, almost 2½ times the size of the state of Texas and about ten times the land area of the entire New England states. The number of farms in the United States is estimated at 6,717,000.

Texas has the largest aggregate crop acreage with 25,328,000 acres, or a little more than one-sixth of her total land area.

Kansas is second with 22,588,000 acres, or almost one-half of her entire land area.

Illinois is third with 21,727,000 acres, or about three-sevenths of her land area.

Iowa is in fourth place with 21,613,000 acres, which is about three-sevenths of her land area.

The aggregate crop acreage, which includes those of corn, wheat, barley, oats, rye, buckwheat, potatoes, sweet potatoes, tobacco, flax, rice, hay, cotton, peanuts, kafir, beans, broom corn, hops and cranberries, and the number of farms by states, follow:

OF INTEREST TO POULTRY GROWERS

It is especially important that surplus cockerels be utilized as capons to increase the meat supply. Capons, or male birds whose reproductive organs have been removed, increase in weight and their meat is of good quality.

To determine the best time to caponize one should be guided by the age and size of the bird. A cockerel two to four months of age and weighing one and a half to two and a half pounds is a convenient-sized bird with which to work.

There are three essentials to good results in caponizing. First, the bird should not be fed for 36 hours prior to the operation so that the intestines will be empty and the reproductive organs exposed; second, the operation should be performed in a strong light in order that the organs may be clearly distinguished; third, one should have a good set of tools.

The skilled operator can caponize a bird in a short time. Birds which have been operated on should be placed in a house from which the roosts have been removed. Give caponized birds a soft feed for ten days after the operation, after which they may be placed on a scratch food ration. The wet feed may consist of two pounds corn meal, one pound of bran and one pound of middlings mixed with skim milk or buttermilk.

The first two weeks capons should be examined for "windpuffs." These can be easily relieved by pricking the skin with a needle or a knife. Two or three weeks prior to marketing, confine and fatten capons in crates. Every ounce of gain at this time adds to the appearance of and the profits from the bird.

Men Who Want More.

Bolsheviki means "men who want more." It is the name of the Russian party which advocates the upsetting of all government. Spartacus means a member of the Spartacist party in Germany, which is a faction of the social democrats. The party adopted its name from Spartacus, leader in the slave war against Rome (73-71 B. C.), a Thracian by birth, who organized the Roman slaves in rebellion.

Lizards With Beautifully
Marked Wings, Resembling
Species of the Butterfly

At least one lizard enjoys, to a certain degree, the power of sailing through the air, as in the cases of flying squirrels, flying frogs of Borneo and some other animals. These lizards are called flying dragons, and they are all small-sized forms found in the Indo-Malayan region.

They possess elongated ribs in mid series, some five to seven pairs of them; these ribs support, on either side of the body, a semi-transparent membrane, it being stretched over them both dorsally and ventrally, united at the free margins and continuous with the general integument of the body.

These "wings," so called, close up like a fan when not in use and fall to the sides of the animal, but when spread form a parachute of marked effectiveness, as by its use this lizard can leap from the limb of a tree and sail to another one at certain distances as well as a phalanger or a flying lemur. Sometimes these "wings" in certain species of the flying dragons are beautifully marked, resembling the wing markings of some butterflies.

The Banana Described.

The banana has only won wide favor in England during the past quarter century. It was not unknown, however, half a century ago, for B. L. Blanchard, the dramatist, records in his "Autobiography"—July 7, 1864—"tasted bananas for the first time—a vegetable sausage tasting like narrow flavored with pineapple."

Suggestions to Those Who Contemplate Having Their Photographer Make Picture

There is more in getting a photograph than simply going to a photographer. He must know his business and you must know yours, otherwise the result will be likeness that is neither flattering nor truthful.

If you are short and stout, advises an authority, don't ask the poor artist to make a picture of you full length. He will if you insist, but he knows he is doing a great wrong thereby. Nothing is so graceful and pleasing in a picture of a stout lady as a sitting at half-length, the figure so turned as to hide the stoutness.

Again, if you are slim and angular, do not for an instant forget that a full-length figure will make you appear more slim and angular. Then the pretty bust picture is your only hope, and you should insist on having none other.

If a gentleman has a very long neck—no matter how nicely he looks in a high collar—his picture, if taken in such a high affair, would look grotesque. A short neck and high collar, and long neck and a low turned-down collar, by all means. No loud stripes, no great checks, no striking figures should be worn in a photograph.

One thing bear in mind when you visit the studio—bring along your home expression. Don't spend two days before you come to the studio practicing poses and different expressions before your mirror, and, lastly, give the photographer the benefit of exercising his artistic and professional ability.

People Adapt Taste to Foods Nature Provides in the Most Abundance

Men usually adapt their taste to those foods which nature provides in the most abundance and most easily procured, according to a survey made of the American continent. In the northern part of Canada the Eskimos and Canadian Indians place their chief dependence for food and clothing upon the caribou, or American reindeer, but are changing to the seal, where the caribou migrate southward. In the early days the Indians of the plains relied upon the bison. Along the Columbia river, noted for its salmon, fish was the prevailing food of the Indians, while acorns and smaller seeds formed the principal diet of the Indians in California. On the plains of Argentina in South America the guanaco took the place of the caribou of the north in the economic life of the natives. In the Atlantic coast region from Argentina to Hudson bay the Indians cultivated maize, manioc and other crops. History proves that the growing of these food plants originated in America, as they were well known to the Indians before Europeans crossed the sea.

Useful Teazel.

Few people probably have heard of teazels, which are grown for the purpose of cloth dressing. The wild teazel is found in English hedges and copses, and bears a purple flower in July. The function of the teazel is to raise the nap of the cloth, although to some extent it has been superseded by the use of wire brushes.

Couldn't Be Happy.

"What are you grumbling about," said the city man to the discouraged farmer. You ought to be the happiest man in the world. You own a farm and can spend your life out in the open."
